Millionaire Brinckerhoff's Version of His Latest Trouble.

Benet M. Brinckerhoff, the millionaire theater owner, was questioned by an Associated Press reporter at his home in the Yonkers Plaza, Maywood Street and Park Avenue, this morning, regarding the events which led to the excitement of his wife from his apartment last Monday afternoon.

Mr. Brinckerhoff's first wife is dead. He obtained a divorce from his second wife about six months ago, and she is now married to another William P. Duran. Brinckerhoff got the divorce on the statutory grounds that brought a cross-tie, naming Miss Blanche Miller as the co-respondent. Miss Miller has since become Brinckerhoff's third wife.

Mr. Brinckerhoff said: "My present wife is the sister of the wife of my former partner in the cricket business, Thomas M. O'Dowd. When I received my divorce from my first wife, who was a beauty, I resolved to marry a plain woman. I knew Miss Miller's poverty, pointed her out to Mr. Duran, who seemed like a nice young woman to me."

"About a week after we were married my son was married.

Mr. Brinckerhoff then made several allegations against his wife, stating that he had found it impossible to live with her. He detailed the circumstances of her exertions to get him to marry her again, and declared that he would not live with her again.

"I don't want to harm her in any way," he said, "and she must leave me alone."

Miss Miller is reported to be with her mother in Brooklyn.

ASIDE BROKEN IN A STREET FIGHT.

John Morrison, of 221 Belmont Street, got into a fight with an unknown man at Second Avenue and Eighty-first Street early this morning, during which he was knocked down and had his left ankle broken. He was sent to Presbyterian Hospital.
